"For knowledge, too, is itself power."

Sir Francis Bacon

Dear Prof. Dr. Moon,

One of the most respected compliments to a person's career is an honor bestowed that symbolizes profound accomplishments and dedication to a particular field. You, Prof. Dr. Moon, have been selected by the American Biographical Institute to be a recipient of the 2012 Award of Excellence. You have demonstrated effectiveness and distinction in your field and are deserving of this mantle.

The Institute is one of the globe's leading international researchers that focuses on prominent men and women in many professional arenas. The Award of Excellence has been established to recognize those who have dedicated themselves to studies, research, and discovery. It is reserved for those who understand the importance and power of knowledge and the path it leads us. Your accomplishments through intelligence and steadfast efforts brought you to our attention—it is clear we share and respect the same quest for knowledge.

A talented artist has been commissioned to craft the Award of Excellence—you can see an image of it on the accompanying leaflet. We are very proud to offer this award to only a select few chosen each year. And it is with great admiration that we have chosen you for this distinct honor.

It was my pleasure as a member of our board to have been a part of the selection process to choose honorees for the Award of Excellence for 2012. It is those, like you, who have committed themselves to their discipline and whose talent and vision has shaped the path of intellectual enlightenment.

May you always be respected and appreciated for your work. I ask kindly that you reply to your nomination by July 27, 2012. The enclosed leaflet describes the award in more detail and offers an acceptance form on the reverse.

Sincerely,

C. A. Mitchell
